"SOUND MONEY" ISSUE

Kentucky Democrats Adopt Such a Platform.

THE ADMINISTRATION ENDORSED.

Victory For President Cleveland and Secretary Carlisle—General P. Wat Hardin Nominated For Governor and R. T. Tyler For Lieutenant Governor—Proceedings of the Convention.

LOUISVILLE, June 27.—The Democratic state convention reassembled at 9:30 o'clock promptly. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. W. Ellis.

When the convention adjourned in the early hours of the morning the pending question was the minority report from the committee on credentials, and the discussion thereon was resumed and lasted over an hour before the rollcall began.

The Clay men favored the substitute and the Hardin men opposed it. As the vote was considered a test of strength it was watched with great interest and resulted—448 ayes, 425 nays. The result was greeted with loud cheering by the Clay men.

The Hardin men rushed to the platform, charged false counting and fraud and created a most tumultuous scene, which was finally checked by crowding Senator Lindsay through the fighters to the front of the platform, when he opened another hot contest by presenting the majority report of the committee on resolutions, which was as follows:

To the Democratic Convention in session at Louisville:

The undersigned, a majority of your committee, beg leave to submit as their, the accompanying resolutions:

First—The Democracy of Kentucky in convention assembled congratulate the country upon the repeal of the McKinley tariff law, and upon the evidences we have on every hand of returning prosperity, under the operations of reduced and equalized tariff taxation; and we denounce as fraught with danger and disaster the threat of our Republican adversaries to re-establish a protective tariff and to re-institute a policy of unequal taxation which, in connection with general mis-government by the Republican party, culminated in the business panic of 1893.

Second—The Democratic party, which has always stood for the separation of church and state, for the suzerainty of civil and religious freedom, does not hesitate to condemn all efforts to create a distinction among citizens because of differences in faith as repugnant to an enlightened age and abhorrent to the instincts of American freemen.

Third—We reaffirm without qualification the principles and policies declared by the national Democratic platform of 1892, and declare that our present national Democratic administration is entitled to the thanks of the party for its honest, courageous and statesmanlike management of public affairs; and we express our undiminished confidence in the Democracy and patriotism of President Grover Cleveland and his distinguished co-adviser and secretary, John G. Carlisle of Kentucky.

Senator Lindsay moved the adoption of the majority report, and there was a response of nays in loud chorus.

Chairman Berry announced that a revision of the count by the secretaries sustained the previous announcement of the substitution of the minority report on credentials for the majority report.

Ex-Congressman Ellis moved to amend Section 3 of the majority report after the words "platform of 1892." This amendment struck out that part endorsing the administration, Cleveland and Carlisle. This was defeated by a large majority. It was considered with favor for Clay as well as a victory for Cleveland and Carlisle.

It was moved that the majority report be adopted by a viva voce vote.

Messrs. Rhea, Ellis and others claimed that they were entitled to another separate vote on their original minority report, which was a sarcastic endorsement of Cleveland and Carlisle for maintaining a single gold standard. The Ellis amendment was known as the supplemental report. The roll had been called on it, and the silver men insisted on the rollcall being called again on substituting the minority report for the majority report. There was an overwhelming viva voce vote against the minority report, but a call of the 119 counties was demanded and ordered at 2:30 p.m.

The final vote substituting the minority report for the majority report on resolutions had only 21 ayes.

When the minority report as well as the supplemental was lost, the question recurred on the adoption of the majority report. Although the previous votes showed that the majority would be overwhelmingly adopted, still the silver men demanded a call of the counties which proceeded till after 3 p.m., and resulted in 647 39-70 ayes, 233 31-70 nays.

Convention then took recess until 7:30 p.m.

On reassembling at 7:30 p.m. dilatory measures occupied almost an hour, when the name of General Cassius M. Clay was presented by George C. Lockhart for the nomination for governor, seconded by Isaac M. Quigley, J. R. Breckinridge, the eloquent brother of W. C. P. Breckinridge, presented the name of General P. Wat Hardin, seconded by James Tarvin and I. A. Spalding.

There being only two candidates, a nomination was expected on the first ballot, which was watched with such close attention as to command perfect order. There were 878 votes, necessary to nomination 440. As the ballot proceeded several counties cast scattering votes for W. J. Stone and the three mountaineers from Lee county voted for Henry Watterson. Rocks Castle county voted solidly for General Buckner, but no dark horses could stampede the well lined up forces of Hardin and Clay.

Before the counties were all called it was evident that General Hardin was nominated, and the Hardin men cheered as the last counties responded with "more for Hardin." Before the result of the ballot was announced the Clay men moved that the nomination of General Hardin be made unanimous, and it carried with a great hurrah.

The result of the ballot was announced as follows: Hardin, 468 1-2; Clay, 330 1-2; Stone, 76; Watterson, 3.

Messrs. Henry Barnett, J. D. Harris and R. J. Breckinridge were appointed to escort General Hardin to the hall. Meantime General Cassius M. Clay was called to the stage. He pledged sincere support to the ticket. He regretted that the financial question had been brought into this convention, which should have been on state issues and good home rule. But when the financial question was made the leading issue, he took his stand for sound money and stuck to it and stood by it still.

He congratulated the convention on its platform and the endorsement of Cleveland and Carlisle, and said if the convention had adopted a plank for free and unlimited coinage at the ratio of 16 to 1 he would not have longer been a candidate and could not have then accepted the nomination if it had been accorded him. General Clay said he would never again be before the people for office, and after thanking those who had stood so loyally by him, urged them to keep Kentucky in the Democratic columns.

When the committee escorted General Hardin into the hall there was the wildest scenes of shouting. General Hardin accepted the nomination in a very eloquent appeal for harmony without referring to any issues or the contest. He spoke very briefly.

For lieutenant governor the names of R. T. Tyler, M. B. Brown and Oscar Turner, Jr., were presented. Tyler was nominated without counting the vote, when the convention at midnight adjourned.

P. Wat Hardin, the nominee for governor, was born June 3, 1841, in Adair county, Ky. He is the second son of Parker C. and Carolina Watkins Hardin. The Hardin family came to Kentucky about 1834, and the most prominent of them settled in Washington county. Martin D. Hardin, Colonel John Hardin and Ben Hardin will be ever remembered as belonging in the category of Kentucky's great men.

General P. Wat Hardin received his education in the schools of Adair county. He studied law with his father and was admitted to the bar in 1865. From the very first General Hardin was the pride of his relatives and friends, because of his noble heart and graceful manners. In 1879 he was nominated by the Democratic state convention for attorney general of Kentucky and was elected, re-elected in 1883 and again in 1887. In 1891 he was a candidate for governor, and after a splendid contest was defeated by the Hon. John Young Brown. As an orator he has few equals and no superiors in the state. His fine work in the Buckner-Bradley campaign of 1887 was greater than all of the leaders put together.

TORTURED TO EXTRACT MONEY.

A Man Bound and Gagged and Held a Prisoner For Two Days.

BUFFALO, June 27.—Octavins O. Cottle, a prominent Buffalo lawyer, was found bound and gagged in the cellar of a vacant house at Black Rock yesterday morning. Mr. Cottle's story is as follows: On Monday morning an unknown man drove to his house and told him a man on Chenango street desired to make a real estate deal with him. Mr. Cottle was driven to an unoccupied cottage in Baynes street, where on entering, he was seized by his guide and another man and gagged and bound. Money was demanded, and under threats he was compelled to write a note to his wife, saying that he was under arrest in Fort Erie and asking for $4,500. The man with the buggy drove back to Cottle's house with the note and delivered it to Mrs. Cottle, who called upon her son for advice. The latter went out to confer with the man, who rode away.

Mr. Cottle was kept in bondage for two days. He was handcuffed and a dog collar put around his neck and chained to a chair in the cellar. A pitcher of water was placed near so that by stooping he could reach it and the only food given him was a few crackers. Here he remained while other efforts to extort money from the Cottle family were made. At length the bandits fearing perhaps they would be tracked, took Mr. Cottle upstairs to the ground floor of the cottage and then disappeared. Here he was found yesterday morning by a policeman who had heard groans proceeding from within and on investigation discovered the captive.

Bright Prospects For Corn.

TOPEKA, June 27.—A. W. Stillwell, traveling freight agent for the Santa Fe, has been all over southern Kansas and Oklahoma in the last two weeks, and says it is just simply wonderful to see the change wrought by the recent rains. There was never such a prospect before for corn in the state.

Flooring Mills Burned.

ST. MARY'S, O., June 27.—A fire, which started early yesterday morning, was not brought under control until the large Gordon flooring mills, woolen mills, postoffice building and several smaller buildings were destroyed. The total loss will be about $90,000, partially insured.

HONDURAS WILL ACT

Charles W. Renton's Murderers Will Be Punished.

THREE OF THEM UNDER ARREST.

This Has Been Accomplished After Much Vigorous Urging and Pressing by the State Department — This Firm Stand Likely to Have Its Good Effects in the Small Central American Republics.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—As the result of much vigorous urging and pressing by the state department the government of Honduras has been brought at last to take steps to punish the people who committed the Renton murder, and yesterday a cablegram was received from Mr. Fringle, the United States chargé at Guatemala City, stating that he had received a telegram from the Honduras minister of foreign affairs announcing that three of the persons implicated in Renton's murder had been arrested. This case has been managed from the beginning by Assistant Secretary Uhl, and it is expected that the firm stand of the state department in this matter will have a good effect upon the status of American citizens in all of the small republics of Central America.

Charles W. Renton, with his wife and niece, lived on a fine estate near Brewers' Lagoon, Honduras. It was a valuable property, largely owing to Renton's enterprise. Near his place was a large plantation held by a number of foreigners who coveted Renton's lands. They sought to drive him off by systematic persecution for a long time and this proving of no avail, resort was had at last to violence and fire. March 16, last year, Renton, who had vainly sought for the protection of the local authorities, was murdered in cold blood, his wife, who tried to assist him in his defense, was shot through the wrist, the buildings and crops were destroyed and her child and niece were driven into the jungle. She made her way with infinite difficulty and after great hardship to the coast and managed to get to the United States, coming to Washington, she laid her case personally before the state department.

About the middle of March Mr. Uhl cabled United States Minister Pierce M. B. Young that the naval investigation had fully established Renton's murder, and directed him to urge the Honduras government to prompt action so that the guilty parties should not escape punishment, and the minister responded that he had made the representations. On March 23 he cabled that the Honduras government had promised to take prompt action in the case, but apparently they were still behind in carrying out their promise, for on the 24th of May, nearly a month later, Mr. Uhl found it necessary to cable Minister Young again that the president was disappointed, that Honduras had not acted promptly and directing the minister to again press them and report progress. This seems to have at last moved the government, for on the 26th of May Minister Young cabled that as a result of his urgency the Honduras government had assured him that it was prosecuting the case with the utmost vigilance and hope, soon to report satisfactorily, when promise was redeemed as appears from yesterday's cable announcing the arrest of three of the murderers.

The treaty between the United States and Honduras contains a provision guaranteeing in the strongest terms full rights to protection for citizens of one country sojourning in the other, but heretofore in all of these Central American countries the governments have made few efforts to give effect to such treaty stipulations where our citizens were concerned. One peculiar feature of the Renton case is that of all the parties to the murder and assault and incendiarism were foreigners, and not native Hondurans. Because of their prominent position and influence with the lesser native officials it has been difficult to induce the government to move against them. Six persons were concerned in the murder, but it is believed that as a result of the vigorous prosecution of the case by our government three of them have fled the country and escaped punishment threatened.

TREASURY STATEMENT.

The Deficiency Will Be About $45,000,000 on July 1.

WASHINGTON, June 27.—For the first time in many months the treasury receipts for the current month will exceed the expenditures. Yesterday the treasury balance sheets for the month showed a surplus instead of a deficit, and as the expenditures are usually light toward the end of the month, it is regarded as certain that the surplus will continue to grow from now until July 1.

The treasury is $46,443,211 behind in the matter of receipts and expenditures for the current fiscal year, and in the intervening days between now and July 1 it is unlikely that more than a million and a half of this deficiency will be made up, so that the year's balance sheet probably will show that the expenditures for the year were about $45,000,000 greater than the receipts.

WICHITA, Kan., June 27.—Kaniadla, a Kickapoo squaw, took a shotgun yesterday and stood off the contractor of the Choctaw railway in Oklahoma and all his men, and would not let them build a foot of track on her allotment until a bond of $2,000 was put up as a guarantee for damages. The company refused a day or two ago to arbitrate with her, and when the men arrived on the ground yesterday she met them with a shotgun with the above result.

SEVENTEEN NOTCHES.

In a Tree's Trunk Represent That Many Lynchings, Claims

In Lewis County, Kentucky, not many miles from Vanceburg, a large oak tree spreads its branches over the Tollensesboro pike. If it could speak it would tell many a tale of horror and crime. Years ago, when the moonshiner was about the only inhabitant of the Kentucky mountains, many men were shot down in cold blood from ambush. The murderer would nearly always be arrested and locked up in the Vanceburg jail, where five murderers are lodging at the present time. In the dead of night, about fifty determined men would ride into town and demand the keys from the jailer. The prisoner would then be taken to this tree and strung up, after which the body would be riddled with slugs and left hanging until some one would cut it down. The tree has seventeen notches on the trunk, no doubt indicating the number of unfortunate souls strangled to death many years ago.

GARRETT B. WALL.

Another Maysville Who is Making
His Way to the Front.

[Ashland Sun, June 25th.]

G. B. Wall, Chief Clerk to Superintendent Boughton, will leave to-night on the 12:53 train for Richmond, Va., where he goes to accept of his new position. He leaves many friends here who regret very much to give him up. As a business man Mr. Wall has few equals, and through his close attention to business he has made himself a man that the C. and O. cannot do without. We will keep a close eye on him, and expect some day to give the readers of the Sun the good news that he has been appointed Superintendent of this excellent road. While we regret to give you up, friend Wall, we wish you success in your new field, and sincerely hope that the good people of Richmond may think as much of you as your friends here, and that you will not forget that we are still alive and would be glad to welcome you back at any time.

William O'Brien, Jr., Dead.

William O'Brien, son of Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brien, of East Fourth, died at the home of his parents yesterday morning at 11:20 o'clock, at the age of twenty-eight years, of rheumatism. He had long been a sufferer, and while the end came rather suddenly it was not altogether unexpected. The funeral will take place at St. Patrick's Church to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock, after which his remains will be laid to rest at Washington.

BETTER WAGES

Make the Factories of Scranton, Pa., Boom—The Outlook Very Bright.

SCRANTON, PA., June 24.—The notice of an advance of 10 per cent. in wages of all employees except foremen, Superintendent and salaried employees, to go into effect July 1, which was posted Saturday at the mills of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company, will affect between 5,000 and 6,000 men and will increase the pay roll of the company about $25,000 per month.

The south works of the company are now engaged on an order which it is expected will keep them working night and day for several months. The outlook in the steel trade in this city is very bright. The increase of wages just announced is to recompense the employees for the cut made in September, 1893.

NORTH ADAMS, MASS., June 22.—The 10 per cent. cut in wages made by the James Hamilton Machine Company, at the time of the business depression, has been voluntarily restored by the company. The company employs about 125 hands.

KENTUCKY CROPS.

Wheat Promises Better Yield Than Was Expected—The Corn.

Weekly Report of the Weather Bureau as to the Outlook in This State.

The weather conditions of the past week were probably the most beneficial of the present season. Up to the 20th, a season of protracted drought had prevailed in many parts of the State, and crops and vegetation generally were beginning to suffer quite seriously. Upon that date however, and the following day, very heavy rains fell in the greater portion of the State with the result of stimulating the growth of all crops and wonderfully brightening the general outlook. The distribution of rainfall was not uniform throughout the State, but comparatively few sections received less than an inch. The counties bordering on the Ohio show a very large excess, the average amount reported being about 2.50 inches. The central and southern counties report amounts ranging from 1 inch to 1.50 inches, while the eastern and southeastern sections received somewhat smaller amounts.

The wheat harvest is virtually completed in the western half of the State, and under full headway in other sections. The yield is generally reported to be somewhat greater than was anticipated, being reported from fair to good in the majority of counties. From many sections come reports of injury from beating down and lodging, resulting from the heavy rains. The quality of the harvested grain is generally good though some few scattered reports of the presence of smut or rust have been received.

Reports relative to corn are favorable almost without exception, and the present prospect for the crop is most promising. Its growth is vigorous and healthy, and while it is short and uneven in places, its color is uniformly good. With a continuance of favorable weather conditions it will in a short time recover from the effects of frost and worms early in the season. A few belated fields were planted during the week.

Tobacco probably received more benefit from the favorable conditions of the week that did any other crop. The rain made an excellent season for the completion of the work of transplanting, and revived the plants which were lying on the hill from the effects of the drought. The plants set out upon high ground are reported to have been completely destroyed in many sections. The season generally has not been favorable to tobacco, and many correspondents state that less than an average acreage has been planted. The crop is now doing very well and the plants are growing rapidly.

Oats were greatly benefited by the rain and the prospects for the crop greatly improved. Some cutting has been done and the yield is reported to be fair. While reports relative to the crop are somewhat conflicting, the general prospect is for a fair yield.

Barley is being cut, and the yield is reported to be very good in most sections.

Hemp looks better than it did last week, and promises a fair crop. Correspondents in the hemp raising sections state that less than an average acreage has been planted. The crop is now doing very well and the plants are growing rapidly.

Gardens look very much better than they did some time ago, and will yield good crops, though they will be late. Potatoes are reported to be in excellent condition.

The prospects for a good yield of grapes and late fruits are excellent. In many parts of the State a heavy crop of apples is indicated.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had children, she gave them Castoria.

WOMEN AS JURORS.

To Pass Judgment in a Man's Suit
For Breach of Promise.

Louisville, Ky., June 24.—A Kentucky court is to enjoy the novelty of a woman jury. It is in a breach-of-promise suit in which a woman is defendant, the suit being almost as novel as the trial will be. Some weeks ago W. C. Stivers, a wealthy widower of Garrard County, in the prime of manhood, sued Miss Katherine West for $10,000 damages, occasioned by damaged affections.

The defendant, a comely young woman of twenty-five, is a school teacher. Both had exchanged fond letters, which are to be introduced as evidence, and, it is claimed, a day for the wedding was set. For some reason Miss West failed to fill her contract. As enabled by Kentucky's new Constitution Mr. Stivers brought suit for damages.

The case will be tried this term before Circuit Judge M. C. Saufley at Lancaster. He proposes to try the case before a woman jury, which, under the new Constitution, he may do. Judge Saufley is thoroughly in earnest, and says if he cannot secure a woman jury in Garrard County he will send to Mercer County for a panel.

Notice.

On and after July 1st, the receipts for city taxes will be in my hands for collection. JAMES W. FITZGERALD.
City Treasurer.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adopting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 50c and $1 bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

THE REDS,

Cincinnati's League Team Will Play Here To-morrow.

The Locals Handicapped in Yesterday's Game and Were Badly Defeated.

The Reds, Cincinnati's League team of ball players, will be here to-morrow and will cross bats with the Maysvilles at the new park in the Sixth ward. Everything points to the largest attendance of the season. Rieman will be in the box for Maysville, and judging from his excellent work in past games, Buck Ewing's swatters will not have any walkover. The Maysvilles will get together and do their level best to down the Red-legs.

The local managers have gone to extra expense in bringing the Reds here, and for this reason the admission to the game to-morrow afternoon will be 50 cents for men and 25 cents for ladies.

Let everybody turn out and encourage the Maysvilles in their efforts to give us the very best to be had in the base ball line.

The Maysvilles were badly beaten yesterday by the Huntingtons. In fact it was the worst defeat they have yet met with.

The home team went into the game greatly handicapped, however, and to add to the trouble several of the players had an "off" day. Bradley was in no condition to pitch and said so. "Why I couldn't break a pane of glass," said Bradley before the game opened. Rieman had to be kept in reserve for to-morrow's game with the Reds, so Bradley was put in the box, against his protest. He lasted for just three innings, when he was taken out and sent to right field, Wadsworth finishing in the box. Wadsworth had pitched but two or three innings this year, and did remarkably well, all things considered. He had plenty of speed, and had he received the support the Huntingtons gave their pitchers the game would not have been so one-sided.

Davis' umpiring was not at all satisfactory. The judgment of the crowd was that he gave the Maysvilles the worst of it, decidedly.

The first and second innings were nicely played on each side. The Huntingtons began scoring in the third. A base on balls, three singles and some rank plays on the part of Maysville gave the visitors three runs. Three singles, a wild pitch and an error gave them three more runs in the fifth. In the sixth, Bruner was hit by a pitched ball, and walked to first. Taylor was given his base on balls. Smith bunted, and Van Winkle in his hurry threw wild to first, Bruner scoring. Lauterbach's long fly to left was taken by Cox, but Taylor scored on the throw in. Gaines struck out. Poage hit past short, Smith scoring. Zimmer's long fly to center, taken by Rieman, retired them. Two singles and a passed ball gave them one more run in the eighth, and they got one more in the ninth on a single, a wild pitch and a muffed.

In only two innings were the Maysvilles able to do any scoring. In the fifth, after two were out, Tenley reached first on an infield hit. Cox got to first on a fumble of his grounder by P. Rieman. Curle then banged one up against the right field fence for three bases, scoring Tenley and Cox. Gaines' sensational catch of Hall's hot one to left center left Curle on third. In the seventh Bradley reached first on Smith's fumble of an infield hit. Hall ran, and stole second. Tenley singled to left, scoring Hall. Cox singled to short and stole second, beating Zimmer's throw to catch him, Tenley scoring on the throw to catch Cox. The score:

SHORT STOPS.

Zimmer was able to return home with the Huntingtons last night. He blames no one but himself for the accident. In the excitement of the moment he forgot the danger of his position over the plate.

Bradley will probably leave for home to-day.

Truehart Taylor is a great pitcher. He has a world of speed.

The managers will probably secure Keenan, late of the Southern League, to help do the pitching. They wired him this morning.

"Big Bill" Phillips will probably be in the box for the Reds to-morrow, with Morgan Murphy, the King of catchers, to receive him.

An unfortunate accident occurred in the seventh inning that was greatly regretted by all present. When Tenley started to score on the throw to catch Cox at second, P. Rieman threw back to shut Tenley off. Zimmer, the Huntingdon catcher, blocked the plate, and Tenley collided with him at full speed. Zimmer was leaning forward over the plate and Tenley's knee struck him on the left shoulder, fracturing the collarbone. Zimmer was in fault. It was impossible for Tenley to stop after he saw the plate was blocked.

ST. JOSEPH'S PAROCHIAL SCHOOL.

An Interesting Program Rendered at the Closing Exercises Yesterday.

The handsome music hall of St. Francis de Sales Academy was the scene of another delightful entertainment yesterday morning when the closing exercises of St. Joseph's Parochial School was the event of interest. A large concourse of relatives and friends greeted the happy children and evidenced their pleasure by frequent and sustained applause. This school with its accomplishment of great good in our midst is not so widely known as it deserves. The public was surprised at yesterday's assurance of the successful training and excellent work the ladies of the Visitation community have accomplished among their youthful charges, whose interesting program would have honored any teacher pupils. Misses Piatt, Murphy, Dodson, Burgess, Resess and Bramel assisted in the exercises and added much to the morning's pleasure.

The selection of the various numbers showed artistic taste on the part of the teachers, while the manner in which they were rendered reflected credit on both teachers and pupils. The sweet-faced "Little Housekeepers" amused the audience with a detailed account of their domestic duties. How happy would it be for all households did the mothers wear the smiling faces of their childlike imitators! The choruses by the minims were pronounced remarkably fine. The recitations, especially "A Catholic Psalm," delivered by Miss Agnes McAuliffe, and "Little Golden Hair," by Nellie Clarke, gave evidence of marked talent. The beautiful song, "Papa Says Mamma's in Heaven," was sung with touching pathos by little Agnes Willenbrink.

PROGRAM.

Chorus, Vacation March, by the pupils. Address to the Rev. Fathers. Mary Elizabeth Lorenz.

Dialogue, "The Little Heroes," Mary McAuliffe, Margaret Guilfoyle, Marguerite Alexander. Recitation, "Little Golden Hair," Nellie Clark. Chorus, "Papa says Mamma's in Heaven," by the minims.

Dialogue, "The School Girl's Trouble," by Margaret Hilly, Anna Roth, Agnes Clark. Vocal solo, "Rocked in the Cradle of the Deep," by Miss Platt.

Recitation, "Little Orphan Annie," by Amanda Brunel.

Piano duet, "La Gallina," Gottschalk, by Misses Murphy and Dodson.

Chorus, "The Little Housekeepers," by the minims.

Recitation, "The Catholic Peshu," by Agnes McAuliffe.

Dialogue, "The Adopted Child," by Amanda Bramel, Florence Dodson.

Mandolin solo, "La Serenata," Gonnod; b. Musica Prota—Graziella-Waller, by Mac Kathryn Burgess.

Recitation, "Grandma at the Masquerade," by Florence Dodson.

Dialogue, "The Bunch of Flowers," by Nellie Clark, Margaret O'Hearn, Agnes Willenbrink, Mary Elizabeth Lorenz, George Farley, Katherine McAuliffe.

Chorus, "Hymn to the Sacred Heart," by the pupils.

At the conclusion of the exercises Rev. A. T. Ennis, in a graceful address to the children and audience, expressing his pleasure in the performance and his appreciation of the interest evinced by the Sisters in the education of the children of St. Joseph's School.

The Sisters of the Visitation and pupils of St. Joseph's School return thanks to Misses Belle Piatt, Kathleen Murphy, Agnes Dodson, Margaret Watson, Lutie Resess, Mae Burgess, Florence Dodson and Amanda Bramel for the kind assistance rendered at their closing exercises. The vocal and instrumental performances of these gifted young ladies very greatly enhanced the interest of the children's entertainment.

DON'T LOOK TOO FAR AWAY.

A Little Shoestring Holder or a Mucilage Bottle Often Makes a Man a Millionaire.

Detroit Electrical Student.]

It is a common fault among men of inventive minds that they look too far away for their objective. Many a clever genius has frittered his life away in pursuit of that ignis fatuus, a perpetual motion. Thousands of others have wasted fortunes and years of the hardest kind of toil upon a flying machine that would never fly, and other far away projects. It is true that Hiram Maxim has made a little progress in the way of aerial navigation, but in general the science of ballooning is just where the Montgolfiers left it 100 years ago.

Although millions of dollars have been wasted in such enterprises other men of more modest aims have made fortunes by inventing simple things. A fortune of large proportions is said to have been made by the fellow who invented the little brass hooks that are used in place of eyelets on the upper part of lace shoes. Several convenient buttons for pantaloons and other wearing apparel have been of great profit to their inventors.

People are all the time looking for something that will lighten labor and save time. They will pay fabulous prices for a trifle that will afford them amusement for an hour. One of those foolish little "pigs-in-clover" concerns could be made for five cents or even less, but the inventor realized $200,000 from it, and a host of imitators made smaller sums. The red and yellow monkey climbing on a string was a gold mine to the man who planned the toy.

A little imitation rose to wear in the button-hole was invented and a tiny spray nozzle was concealed in the heart of it. This attached to a rubber tube and a bulb filled with perfume that may spray the sweet odor upon curious examiners brings a royalty of $12,000 a year to a modest inventor.

The shading pen can be made for five cents, but the royalty is worth $40,000 a year. Half a dozen patent mucilage bottles are keeping their discoverers in luxury. The patent inkstands in the market that are of general use brought their inventors all the way from $10,000 to $500,000.

The glass lemon squeezer, familiar to everybody, is one of the simplest of them all. It has the merits of working well, of being easy to keep clean and never getting out of order. The purchaser paid $50,000 for it.

A novelty in an automatic inkstand is another example. This keeps an equal supply of ink always ready for the pen. It is said that $200,000 has been realized by this.

An automatic funnel was sold for $57,000; a knitting machine has earned millions.

Among the inventions which it is promised would realize a fortune are a key-board typewriter which could be sold for $25; a device to deaden the noise made by the typewriter; a way of making kerosene odorless; a cheap envelope which cannot be opened without detection; a time stamp for street letter boxes, showing time of deposit of letters.

There is, of course, great field for inventions useful in the household. A shoe polishing machine would confer much happiness and improve the general appearance of the community.

The great bait to the happiness of the average pipe smoker is the difficulty of cleaning the instrument. As yet it cannot be yet done without much unpleasant labor. A pipe that will not foul will make a fortune.

At this moment there is a great opportunity for all improvements applicable to bicycles. There is not only a strong demand for them among the riders, but the business of the bicycle makers depends largely on the addition of attractive improvements to their machines. It is suggested that there would be a demand for a bicycle which could be operated by arms and hands alone.

ELECTRIC RAILROADS.

New England Proposes to Run a Long One Into Canada.

New Englanders propose to get out of electric all the good there is in it as a motive power, says an exchange. There are numerous waterfalls among their hills and mountains, the force of which they propose to utilize in generating power to run a railway from Haverhill, Mass., through to Quebec, a distance of nearly 300 miles. If built, this road will be the most picturesque in the world. The proposed road will traverse the whole of the White mountain region of New Hampshire, and after leaving it will strike into the wild and picturesque ruggedness of the province of Quebec. Of the entire length of the road, 180 miles will be on the United States side of the international boundary line, the remaining 100 miles being under the jurisdiction of the Canadians.

Little freight could be expected to pass over such a road, and the bulk of the passenger traffic would be confined to the summer months. Indeed it is doubtful if such a road could be operated at all during the winter season. It is said, though, that the road could be built and operated so inexpensively that a good summer travel would be sufficient to pay satisfactory returns on the outlay.

STUDENTS ARRESTED.

They Are Charged With Attempting to Wreck a Passenger Train.

TUSCOLA, Ills., June 27.—George L. Marten and Elmer E. Young, students of the Illinois state university, are confined in the Douglass county jail awaiting a preliminary examination on a charge of attempted train wrecking.

Last Monday spikes were placed along the rails of the Illinois Central track with evident intention of derailing the northbound passenger train which passes here at 1:40. The two young men were seen walking away from the track just after the obstruction was discovered and they were arrested. They deny the charge against them. Both stand high at the university and have excellent reputations.

Mrs. Anna Clarkson Argo, of Kansas, City, arrived here Tuesday evening on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Henry Adams, and other relatives and numerous friends.

Superintendent Williams called out a large force of hands Monday, and gave Kennedy's Creek county road a much needed improvement.

Mrs. Amelia Clarkson Argo, of Kansas, City, arrived here Tuesday evening on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Henry Adams, and other relatives and numerous friends.

The intense drought was being considerably felt in this neighborhood. Spring setting of fruit trees was dying, and crops and vegetation showed the effects of hot scorching sun.

Miss Flora Tully returned home Sunday, accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. R. C. Williams, who will spend several days visiting relatives and friends at Springdale and Cottageville.

The moonlight fete on the Taylor Mill pine Friday night, superintended by Messrs. Matt Russell and Louie Friede was quite an enjoyable entertainment. Good order, dancing, excellent music by the local band and plenty of refreshments characterized the features of the evening.

We had a good rain Thursday which was gladly welcomed by all, and was quite beneficial to all growing crops, but not enough to insure a good tobacco season, although many farmers took advantage of it, thinking it was "now or never" and set their plants which were ruined in the beds. With immediate copious rains no doubt they will survive, but if not they will fare as did the previous setting, and the tobacco crop will go where the "wood fire twineth."
